Billy had never thought he would be at events like this, under the gaze of thousands and thousands of people. Of course they weren't for him, but for his lovely girlfriend who's acting career was going far. In all honesty he never thought you'd be interested in him. You were a very kind person and Billy, was well, Billy. It was until you had asked him on a date did he realize you were interested and the two of you have been pretty inseparable ever since. It was even more shocking for him when he also realized how famous you were, in fact it was frightening. He surely thought you wouldn't ever bring him around for events like this as he wasn't the best example but when you asked there was no saying no.

Now he stands besides you a lot of the time as interviewers ask you questions, sometimes all too personal, and you answer with so much skill. He was dragged away from your thoughts as the interviewer locked eyes with him.

"And what does your boyfriend think of having such a superstar by his side?" the microphone turned to Billy and you gave his hand a little squeeze of support.

"Well first off she's amazing and utterly beautiful. Her talent knows no bounds and I am utterly grateful to have her by my side." he turned and winked at you making your smile widen.

"How do you feel about her accomplishments?"

"I'm proud of everything she does and I'm excited to see where she goes from here. She can only go up that's for sure. "

Before the event was completely over, the two of you slipped away silently making your way back to the Camaro. The trip was quiet, both of you eager to be out of the public eye. As soon as the car was in sight you broke your silence.

“Well aren’t you such a sap.” you elbowed him lightly in the side.

“What, can’t a guy appreciate his amazingly talented girl.” Billy chuckled and you stopped walking as you reached the hood of the car. He stopped with you before turning to face you.

“Yeah but I didn’t expect you to go all out during that interview.” he licked his bottom lip as his eyes met yours, you cupped his face.

“It was very sweet.” he pulled you closer to him, tucking your head under his chin.

“Anytime, Babygirl.” he kissed the top of your head; you hummed satisfied.

“Shh, let me just compliment you for once.” you wriggled in his arms but he just tightened his grip on you.

“But I like praising your talent, doll.”

“I’m being serious Billy. You’ve been fucking fantastic through all of this; I mean you’re so supportive and understanding, I don’t know what I would do without you.” you kissed over his heart, hoping that he would get the message. Billy rubbed your back and held you in his arms as the minutes pass, completely silent between you too;

“You’re thinking about something, tell me.” his voice wasn’t quite asking but it also wasn’t demanding either.

“What if we stayed here?” you looked up at him trying to gauge his reaction. He seemed a little surprised but not too much so you continued on.

“I know you said to wait until after graduation but I mean we’re already here. Why not just suffer being in a new school together for a couple more months then graduate.”

“Yeah but Neil-“ you pulled away enough to hold his hands to your heart.

“Doesn’t care that I take you out to other places for support or anything. I know you hate talking about it and I know you hate being treated like a hurt puppy, but maybe it's time we get him out of the picture. We've got enough evidence and with Susan, he doesn't stand a chance in court."

"And Max?" you could tell he was still trying to process your words and also make sure you both have every base covered.

"She has her friends, I don't think she'd like it that much if we all tried to come here. Susan's a good mom and I think Max is smart enough to stay out of trouble." you watched a sigh of relief leave him and you kissed his knuckles.

"Again this is all your decision. I'll still wait for you B, but I just wanted to let you know we're my mind was at." you would never do anything this big without having Billy's opinions on his first. You had both promised each other early in this relationship that anything that could affect the other you would both hash it out until you found the right answer.

"We can do it."

"Seriously?" you asked, watching as his face lit up into his signature grin.

"It's about high time that fucker gets what's coming to him. It would be better to do it now so I don't have to worry about Max if I left after graduation." he tugged you back to his chest, gently brushing his nose against yours. You can't help but kiss him and he kisses back with the fiery passion you've grown to love.

"God, I love you." he chuckled at your words.

"I love you more." he leaned and kissed the spot on your neck that tickled, making you wiggle against him.

"Although, news does tend to fly around you, this is gonna probably draw some attention, if not a lot. 'Famous teen stars boyfriend's abusive dad' sounds like the right headline." his voice was sarcastic but you could tell he had already thought about what would happen during that whole debacle.

"It probably will and there's not much I can do about that. I can try to see if there's a way to handle it silently but—" his lips were on yours once more for a brief second.

"You're already doing so much, I can handle a little chatter." he whispered and you nodded your head. He pulled away and opened your passenger door and you slid in. You were staring out the window as Billy got in and the two of you drove back off to the hotel.

"We're really going to do this." Billy's voice was filled with wonder and only a tinge of worry; you placed your hand on his shoulder.

"Yes and I will be right by your side the entire time."

"I wouldn't have it any other way." he smiled widely and you couldn't help but match his smile. Everything was going to be alright for the both of you.
